It all started on an autumn day in 1956 when a fellow walked into my Dad's feed and hardware store to buy a bag of salt. We started talking and he found out I liked to hunt darts as our old friend Phil Kientz called them. Thus began a never-ending friendship of 27 years with Max Shipley, one of our oldest and most respected collectors of prehistoric art.

As he had learned from his Father, one of the first members of the Ohio Indian Relic Collectors Society in 1941, so I learned from him.

As the years pass, fewer and fewer relics are found and major finds are considered rare. Many a collector finds only with dismay fragments of what had been a fine relic. Modern farm implements have taken their toll.

However, not all is lost. For throughout the countryside early Ohio farmers were slowly plowing with horses and were picking up various types of unbroken, odd stones as curiosities. Many were deposited in barns, on mantels, or placed in some out-of-the-way drawer. Many were incised by a pocketknife with the finder's name or date of discovery. Thus many fine artifacts were preserved throughout the states as momentoes of early rural agrarian expansion. This collection represents many of the finest of these cherished apogean lithic art forms.

Dr. Meuser also considered Max to be one of his closest friends and chose him to be recipient of his most cherished art forms. His finest prehistoric effigy and non-effigy pipes, the prized knobled crescents, crescents, banners, birdstones, and flat slate were placed in very capable hands.

Throughout the years, I saw the collection grow with the addition of fine flint, stone, pipes and slate. The lanceolates and fluted points represent one of the largest collections in the United States. Many relics in the collection have the quality and pedigree to place them as source of the highest art forms in Ohio. Due to their extreme rarity, one seldom has the opportunity to see or examine such items.

It has been my privilege to catalogue these artifacts. I have documented all items as closely as memory allows with measurements given to the closest 1/8". In addition to our catalogued items the following journals (Ohio Archaeologist, Artifacts, Redskin, and Central States) and frames of birdpoints and triangles are included.

Now, for the first time during our lives, you have the opportunity to add these artifacts, some of Ohio's finest Prehistoric artwork, to your collection.

OUR POLICY

RESERVE BIDS: All of our sales are unrestricted. This is a legal term to show that the item will be sold to the high bidder regardless of price and that the owner cannot reserve the item or buy it back.

POOLS: Pools are an association of dealers or collectors formed with the purpose of keeping down auction prices for the benefit of its members. They are illegal in England, but flourish in Eastern United States. They have never occurred at our auction and under no circumstances will they ever be permitted.

BUYING FOR OUR ACCOUNT: We never have nor will we ever buy at our auction any item for ourselves.

ABSENTEE BIDS: Absentee bids are given to an experienced bidder in the audience to execute competitively and buy as cheaply as possible. A down payment is not necessary — we will bill you if successful. It is not a foolproof system but it is 100% honest.

PROTECTED BIDS: The auctioneer is the sole determinant as to who is the successful bidder. Under no circumstances will an item be resold.

PAYMENT: All items are to be paid for at the end of each session. We pay our consigners within fifteen working days of the sale and we cannot run charge accounts.

NOMINAL BIDS: Small bids made with the purpose of disparaging an item may be rejected by the auctioneer. Also, a small advance may be rejected as we believe in protecting the under bidder and will not sell him out for a nominal sum.

SHIPPING: We will ship and insure items bought absentee according to your wishes. All shipped merchandise will carry a minimum fee for packing and handling that covers our costs only. This fee is in addition to postage and insurance.

STORAGE ITEMS: We will be happy to store items purchased at auction until transportation can be arranged. However, because these items are not covered by our insurance, they must be stored at the owners risk.

We look with pride at the success of our operation in the past and hope we will grow in the future. May we serve you?
